New Launch Law

The collector of customs has received a new circular from the department of Commerce and Labor entitled "Regulations of Motor Boats." By the words "motor boats" in the circular is understood any vessel propelled by machinery and not more than 65 feet in length. The motor boats subject to the act are divided into three classes as follows: Class one—Less than twenty-six feet in length. Class two—Less than forty feet. Class three—not more than sixty-five feet. The circular deals principally with the lights which the motor boat shall carry between the hours of sunset and sunrise. Every motor boat of class one shall be required to carry the following lights and all other lights at the mentioned hours must not be exhibited: (1) a white light aft to show all around the horizon; (2) a combined light in the fore part of the vessel and lower than the white light aft showing green to starboard and red to port, so fixed as to throw the light from right ahead to two points abaft the beam on their respective sides.

The regulations for the lights of boats in the second and third classes are much more exacting than those for the first class. Boats of the first class are not required to carry a foghorn or bell, a whistle being sufficient, but all motor boats are required to carry a life preserver for each person on board. All boats over five net tons carrying freight or passengers for hire must take out a license with the collector of customs. There are many other changes from the old regulations and the act goes into effect July 9.

Dentist In Town

Dr. C. C. Finley, a graduate dentist arrived up on a recent boat and has taken rooms in the Pate-naude building. He will be here but a short time only, so if in need of his services make an early call and secure an appointment with him. He is prepared to use all the latest methods, and guarantees all his work, crowns and bridges a specialty.

The New Fur Law

The Department of Commerce and Labor has sent warnings to trappers advising them of the provisions of the "Act to protect seal fisheries of Alaska, and for other purposes." Under the new statute it is provided:

"No person shall kill any otter, mink, marten, sable or fur seal or other fur-bearing animal within the limits of Alaska Territory or in the waters thereof; and every person guilty thereof shall, for each offence, be fined not less than two hundred nor more than one thousand dollars or imprisonment not more than six months, or both; and all vessels, their tackle, apparel, furniture and cargo found in violation of this section shall be forfeited; but the Secretary of Commerce and Labor shall have power to authorize the killing of any such mink, marten, sable, fur seal or other fur-bearing animal under such regulations as he may prescribe; and it shall be the duty of the Secretary of Commerce and Labor to prevent the killing of any fur seal except as authorized by law and to provide for the execution of the provisions of this section until it is otherwise provided by law."

"Fur-bearing animals enumerated below may be hunted and killed in the Territory of Alaska, except during the seasons specified with respect to each of the several animals mentioned.

"1 Sea Otter—The hunting or killing of sea otter is prohibited until November 1, 1920.

"2. Beaver—The hunting or killing of beaver is prohibited prior to November 1, 1915.

"3 Land otter, mink, muskrat, marten, fisher, and ermine—The hunting or killing of land otter, mink, muskrat, marten fisher or ermine is prohibited throughout the season from April 1 to October 31, both days inclusive, of year.

"Black bear—The hunting or killing of black bear is prohibited throughout the season from April 1 to July 31, both days inclusive, of each year.

"5. Fox, wildcat and lynx—The hunting or killing of fox, wildcat or lynx is prohibited throughout the season from April 1 to September 30, both days inclusive, of each year.

"6 The killing of any fur-bearing animal by means of strychnine or any other poison is prohibited at all times.

"7 Permits or licenses may be issued by the Secretary of Commerce and Labor for the taking of fur-bearing animals for scientific purposes or for shipment to zoological parks.

"The penalties and forfeitures imposed by the act will be strictly enforced against all persons who take, capture or kill, or attempt to take, capture or kill, any fur-bearing animal in the Territory of Alaska during the prohibited season herein established, or who barter or have in their possession the skin or pelt of any fur-bearing animal during the said season."

NOTE—As published in last week's Sentinel the date for disposing of skins of above mentioned animals has been extended to January 1st, 1911.

The town certainly owes a vote of thanks to Billie Dickinson and his band, who were here in force and furnished excellent music during the celebration, and entertained the dancers of Wrangell Tuesday night at a grand ball.

The committees in charge, together with Jack Collins the marshal of the day, all did their work well and the town as a whole appreciates the fact.

Best Celebration Ever

For numbers of visitors from outside points present, and for general good time, the Fourth of July celebration at Wrangell last Monday was the most successful in the history of the town. (It pays to advertise you see) From the patriotic exercises in the morning, when Wm. Downing surprised his hosts of friends by the excellence of his oration, through the different sporting events of the day to the unexpected parade of the "Calithumpians" in the evening, the day was all that could be desired, and will so go down in the history of the town.

The launch races in the afternoon were of course the center of attraction of the day, the Irene Barnes, the Far Niente and Jack Bjorn's unnamed launch each winning in their classes.

In the athletic events Fred Lewis was the star performer, winning first place in the dash, pole vault, broad and high jumps, while as a singer Capt Jinks was in a class by himself.

ED. S. ORR

The Republicans of Alaska need make neither apology nor explanation in offering Ed. S. Orr, of Valdez as their candidate for Delegate to Congress. He stands head and shoulders above any who are or may be opposed to him.

From one end of Alaska to the other he is known as an absolutely "square" man—one without any clique of friends to support or enemies to punish. nor has he ever tendered his services to any big corporation and then assailed them for refusing his offer. He has, in his years in the transportation business here in the north, employed hundreds of men and done business with thousands of others, and the first to question Ed. Orr's honesty or integrity has still to be heard from.

Such is the man the Republicans are asking the support of Alaska for and if the voters are awake to their own interests they will see that his majority is large enough to obliterate any possibility of doubt in the minds of the people of the United States that Alaskans are tired of continued misrepresentation by the man Wickersham.

The platform upon which Mr. Orr stands is presented herewith:

THE PLATFORM

We reiterate our unswerving devotion to the principles and policies of the Republican party, and proclaim our admiration for and loyalty to the present Republican administration.

We congratulate the country upon the broad and lofty statesmanship exercised by the present occupant of the executive mansion. His intelligence, patriotism and statesmanlike solution of every question is worthy of the best traditions of democratic institutions.

The vast area of Alaska and the variety of interests existing within our limits render it essential that the territory should be divided along lines best adapted for the government of the same.

We believe in Territorial Government, and pledge ourselves to such form of government for Alaska, as soon as the same is obtainable; but at this time we realize Alaska is in need of other and greater remedial legislation for its advancement and development and that such measures should predominate.

We favor the immediate opening up of the territory to settlement; and the determination of title to Alaska coal lands, that active development of the same may proceed.

We believe that conservation, as now applied to Alaska and her resources is not for the best interests of her people and her immediate development, and that conservation, as applied does, and has prevented, the opening up of our country.

We advocate government aid to railroads, as our needs demand, from the coast to the interior, to be given under competitive proposals, viz. as shall be determined by competent engineers of the government as to feasibility of route.

We urge the immediate expenditure of money already appropriated by congress for the construction of light houses and fog signals on the coast of Alaska, and the further appropriation of liberal sums for the purposes of aids to navigation, and we extend our congratulations to Governor Clark for his successful efforts already made in this direction.

We recognize the necessity of the Coast and Geodetic Service, and the great good the same has been to our sea coast, and urge a sufficient appropriation by congress for the betterment of said Service so that the entire coast may be surveyed and charted.

We favor the passage of the bill now pending in congress for the establishment of a home for indigent miners and prospectors of Alaska, the plan of which is being formulated by the Pioneers of the territory; that such a project is indorsed by the Republican candidate and the Republican organization, and that we shall use our best efforts in getting necessary government aid for the completion and successful operation of such a home.

The mining laws of the United States should be revised. Our present mining laws are inadequate. They permit unlimited staking of claims by individuals, agents or power of attorney, and we are opposed to the location of mineral land by power of attorney. The present mining laws provide that as much assessment shall be done upon a fraction of a claim as upon a group of eight claims, comprising one hundred and sixty acres, or an association claim. Definite limitations of the individual's right to separate mineral lands from the public domain, specific methods of doing assessment work, and a clear definition of what constitutes a discovery will be of great assistance to the legitimate miner. We believe that our present laws open the doors to a great amount of litigation. Since the discovery of gold this litigation has burdened the courts of the district and has been a serious detriment to the development of the country, and we submit and urge the correction of the same by stringent laws, requiring one hundred dollars worth of actual work and development to be performed on each and every claim located and on each and every claim of the association group.

Recognizing that nearly all of the mining titles in Alaska have become insecure by reason of spurious issues of fact and undue attempts to influence jurors, we favor the passage of more stringent laws drawn for the purpose of preventing perjury and for the purpose of protecting juries from undue influence.

We favor the putting of all commissioners upon a salary basis.

The election of the present delegate from Alaska as an independent has resulted in no legislation for Alaska whatever, his characteristic attitude of personal enmity to all who do not agree with him, his failure to avoid the opportunity for personal controversy and recrimination with those who differed with him his indiscriminate attacks upon the President, members of the cabinet, the judiciary of Alaska, its other principal officials and upon all business enterprises lead to his total failure to accomplish any affirmative action for the district by congress. We deem it high time that a delegate should be sent to congress for Alaska whose temperament will permit of at least some progressive action for Alaska, so that its resources may be developed, rendered marketable and its population thereby increased.

We endorse the untiring efforts of the Alaska Road Commission in its work in Alaska, and in bringing before congress the needs of the district and securing the necessary appropriations for this much needed work; and we feel that the people of the territory owe a debt of gratitude to Major Wilds P. Richardson, as chairman of said commission, for his able and disinterested effort and the devotion of the best years of his life to our territory in the building of trails and roads that open up and develop our many natural resources.

HAPPENINGS of INTEREST IN THE BUSY NORTH

Southeastern Alaska has been visited by several excellent theatrical troupes this summer.

Editor Stevens, of the Nome Gold Digger, is in financial complications.

Saying business no longer warranted the keeping of a store at Richardson, the N. C. company has abandoned the place.

It took five hours to take a scow of lumber from Fairbanks to Chena.

The Fairbanks Times claim teachers are paid too small a sum for their services in the Tanana valley.

"Jack" Dalton, who was to come to Douglas and "carry" the convention in spite of the regular organization, has wisely decided not to attempt to do so.

A new steamer, the Sampson, for use in the Iditarod trade, has been built at Fairbanks.

Early payments for town lots are being urged by the town trustee who is issuing titles in the city of Fairbanks.

Delegate Wickersham is being accused of being in the employ of the Amalgamated Copper company.

So much rain has been falling at Ketchikan recently that sewer construction had to be abandoned.

The steamer Casca, which sank in seven feet of water below Lake Labarge, has been raised.

Chas. Goldstein is to enter the dry goods business in Juneau on a large scale.

The cost of the Ballinger investigation will exceed $50,000.

Not a boat has touched at Yagataga beach, with one exception, for eight months and the residents are suffering for food.

Freight is hauled for $100 a ton from Clow landing to Discovery, in the Iditarod.

People are getting patents for their city property from the townsite trustee at Fairbanks.

William Webb, one of the early

Alaskans, died in the Good Samaritan hospital at Valdez recently.

The Seward Gateway says Juneau has the reputation of being the seat of more trouble than any other town in the district. It has since Val was made mayor and will maintain it until he is eliminated.

Many moose are reported to have died on the Kenai peninsula last winter for lack of food.

The Alaska Northern track near Seward, is now open as far as mile 52.

The Juneau baseball team plans to go to Ketchikan for July Fourth.

There has been a food shortage at Kenai.

The Montenegrins at Cordova, who were arrested as vagrants, claimed they had no money with which to purchase food, managed to produce the steamer fares when it was necessary to go to Seattle to escape jail.

The Washington authorities refused to allow the revenue cutters to be used to take vagrants from Cordova.

Cordova claims to have a population of 6,000.

The owners of the Chicagoff mines will place a 20 stamp mill on their property near Sitka.

Deputy United States Marshal Brightwell at Cordova forced all able-bodied men to go to work or leave the city recently.
